

THE LITTLE PRINCE

Solent People's Theatre Company

SOLENT People's Theatre's touring production of The Little Prince is a spell-binding trip around the planets, told with skill and imagination through song, puppetry and a cast of solid performers.

The story charts the tale of a pilot, who crashes in the Sahara Dessert. The role is taken by Ged Simmons who, in true Jackanory style, provides colourful pictures and amusing anecdotes along the way. His encounter with the Little Prince takes the audience on a magical mystery trip where puppets come to life and befriend him.

The Little Prince, played by Julia Farino, has the voice of an angel and story-telling skills to charm all ages.

The show is refreshingly different from most of the Xmas fables around and this is a chance to use your own imagination, in this tale with many a true word.
